Description

Established in 1957 on 150 acres in rural DeKalb County, the St. Joe Valley Conservation Club is one of the largest shotgun shooting facilities in the Midwest. The site includes 9 Trap Fields, 10 Skeet Fields, a large Five Stand Field, and several lighted fields. Open to the public, we offer practice, league, and registered trap and skeet shooting. Instruction and safety training are also available. The club is the site of the annual Kolar Mid-America Open in May as well as other shoots throughout the year.
